Spreckelsville Club House Built—Wailuku School Concert.

June 9.—The last term of the Hawaiian Court to be held under the laws of the Republic of Hawaii began with the opening of the Wailuku court on June 6. Hon. J. W. Kalua, judge, presided. On Friday, the 8th, the foreign jury was called, the first case to be tried being one of an assault with a dangerous weapon. A Japanese named Yamamoto was charged with stabbing Wm. Paahao in the wrist with a knife at Huelo, December 12.

On the same day Judge Smith of the Hilo court in the Wailuku school house, trying some cases in which the jury was disqualified. There were two courts in session at the same time. Judge Kalua and a foreign jury were in the court house and Judge Smith and a foreign jury in the school house. Judge Smith will go to Hilo on Tuesday.

New Club House.
The new club house being constructed at Spreckelsville is an imposing structure. It is two stories high, with upper and lower verandas. It is about the size of the Queen Hotel at Honolulu. The exterior has been painted.

Wailuku School Concert.

Thursday evening, the 7th, the large Wailuku school hall was crowded with people who were delighted with the concert given by the Wailuku school under the able direction of the Margaret Nape. A program of songs, duets, quartets, tableaux and a drill was most excellently rendered. About $80 were raised toward the piano fund. This was the first series of entertainments.

EPIDEMIC AMONG HORSES ON MAUI

Leon Tempesky Writes of a Curious Disease That Is Not Understood.

Makawao, June 8, 1900.
Editor Advertiser:—A new kind of ailment is afflicting the horses of East Maui, and one which I have never heard, nor read of before. It assumes the shape of an abscess, and is found on the rear side of the animal, between the stifle and the hip bone.

I have seen in this district and also in the Kaupo district some eleven cases, nine of which had the abscess in identical the same place. Of the other two cases, one occurred on the front and near side of the brisket, the other between the eye and the ear, also on the near side. I have heard of a great many cases in the Kula and Kahikinui districts, and in every instance they have been described to me as being situated the same as the majority of the above mentioned cases.

Among the eleven cases, the abscess of one animal had burst naturally and healed up in a short time—about two weeks. The others I lanced and all recovered; in some cases I had to cut as deep as an inch and a half, before reaching the matter, of which there is an enormous quantity.

Two horses in the Kaupo district died that had this abscess, and in neither case had the abscess burst, but whether it was the cause of their death or not I can't say.

I should be very glad if any of your veterinary readers could enlighten us as to the cause of this malady, also if other parts of this island, or other islands of the group are troubled with it.

The horses in every instance have been grass fed and in good condition.

Story About Ingersoll.

"I will tell you a story about the late Colonel Ingersoll which I never saw in print," said a lawyer who knew the great agnostic well.

"When he was an attorney in Peoria, Ill., a young wife called to see him about filing a suit for divorce. Ingersoll questioned her closely and after she had detailed a number of grievances he told her that none was sufficient. She was much perturbed in consequence, and finally appealed to him to know on what grounds she could procure her bill. The Colonel took a law book from his collection and pretended to examine it. After this he turned to her and said: 'Madam, I find nothing in this book to fit the situation. But if you can establish the fact that he is addicted to the unmanly habit of eating ice-cream soda, I know a judge who will give you a decree.'"

"That, in Ingersoll's opinion, in a man was inexcusable."

NEW CHAPEL DEDICATED

Home For Kaumakapili Congregation.

INTERESTING CEREMONIES

Striking Addresses By Wellknown White Residents and Natives.

Kaumakapili Chapel, the pretty structure that has been built out on King street, in Kapalama district, to temporarily replace the fine church that was destroyed by fire during the plague, was dedicated yesterday afternoon. The little frame building was filled to the doors by native members of the congregation and white residents who are interested in the work of the church. So large was the crowd that many were unable to obtain entrance to the building and were forced to perch in the windows or gather in the porches to hear and see the ceremonies.

There was little of pomp or circumstance in the dedication. The exercises were wholly in the Hawaiian language. Rev. E. S. Timoteo was the chairman and after music by the church choir he called upon Rev. Jas. Davis for an address.

Mr. Davis spoke at some length upon the work that the church had accomplished among the native Hawaiians and what it was hoped to do in the future, when the church had recovered from the effects of the fire and had established itself on a sure foundation once more.

Rev. H. H. Parker followed with a brief address, and then came the ceremonial of presenting the keys of the church to the trustees.

W. C. Achi, on behalf of the building committee of the church, in a speech in which he described the work which had devolved upon the committee, made the presentation and the keys were received by M. K. Nakuina, as treasurer of Kaumakapili Church, thanking the committee for its efforts in behalf of the church, and congratulating its members on the successful completion of the task.

The children's choir sang selections and O. P. Emerson preached the dedicatory sermon. S. E. Bishop followed with a prayer and a quartette sang "Rock of Ages." There were addresses by Rev. J. M. Ezera and Rev. S. P. Kaala, and the ceremonies concluded with the anthem sung by the choir.

At the conclusion of the services the sacrament of the Lord's supper was administered to the church members, and thereafter all the congregation and the visiting clergymen adjourned to the grounds of W. C. Achi, adjacent to the church, and enjoyed a luau under a pavilion which had been erected under the trees.
